

Bringing the fun back to the Great Outdoors.

Remember those glorious summer days of old, when you'd spend the entire day outside playing with friends, riding bikes, running through the sprinklers, exploring the world... pure freedom until Mom called you back inside for dinner. Then rushing back out after gobbling down Sloppy Joes to play "night games" until it was bedtime, only to wake up the next morning to do it all over again. The outdoors were your playground, and it's where summer memories were made.

As adults, we may not run through the sprinklers anymore, but the fun of spending time outside doesn't have to end. Outdoor audio, video, cooking and grilling can all bring similar joy and memories in your outdoor spaces. With a consultation from a Best Buy® Home Expert or Designer, we can show you all the ways to bring these great feelings back to the great outdoors. To get started, either schedule a consultation with a Home Expert, or check out our Outdoor Entertaining page.

The sounds of summer.

Once upon a time we'd bring our boombox outside and blast it for all to hear. Today, there are more delicate and convenient ways to enjoy our music outside.

For those looking to keep their neighbors in good standing, Sonance and Martin-Logan make audio systems for your outdoor spaces using smaller speakers that surround your yard with pristine audio, pushing the sound inward. Now, no matter how loud you blast your tunes, the sound outside your yard is minimal. With their petite profile, these speakers can be hidden throughout your yard in bushes or flower beds, so all you hear is great sound, and all you see is nature. These systems also come with subwoofers that get buried into the ground and deliver the desired bass many of us love.

You can also explore outdoor speakers that you mount to your deck, patio or pergola that provide individual spaces with good sound. You can even try to hide your music in a "rock-style" speaker—work them into your landscaping design and they really do disappear.

If you're a Sonos user, the Sonos Move is an excellent outdoor option. This simple, wireless speaker not only gives you great sound outside, it pairs with the rest of your Sonos speakers, so as you move from indoors to out, you can hear the same music, creating a great party atmosphere.

Best Buy® also has a host of other wireless speakers, some waterproof, great for poolside and at the lake. Big, small, pricey and budget-friendly—no matter your need, with an outdoor consultation, we'll help you explore the possibilities, price points, and sound quality that fits your space and your desires.

Visually stunning.

How much fun was it to go to a summer ballgame with your family or friends, sun in your face, snacks and drinks in hand? Or, for us older folks, going to a drive-in movie, family crowded together screaming, laughing, snuggling. What if you could put these feelings just outside your backdoor?

With outdoor, all-weather TVs, the ballgame or movie is never far away. But that TV has to be the right TV. Whether it's the sun's glare, salt, heat, cold, water, bugs—all of these would destroy a regular TV. Thankfully, Best Buy offers a host of outdoor TVs that range in size and functionality, from shaded areas to full sun areas, so the glare and elements won't affect them one bit. Add the right audio solution and—boom—you have an outdoor movie-going or game-watching experience that rivals many indoor systems.

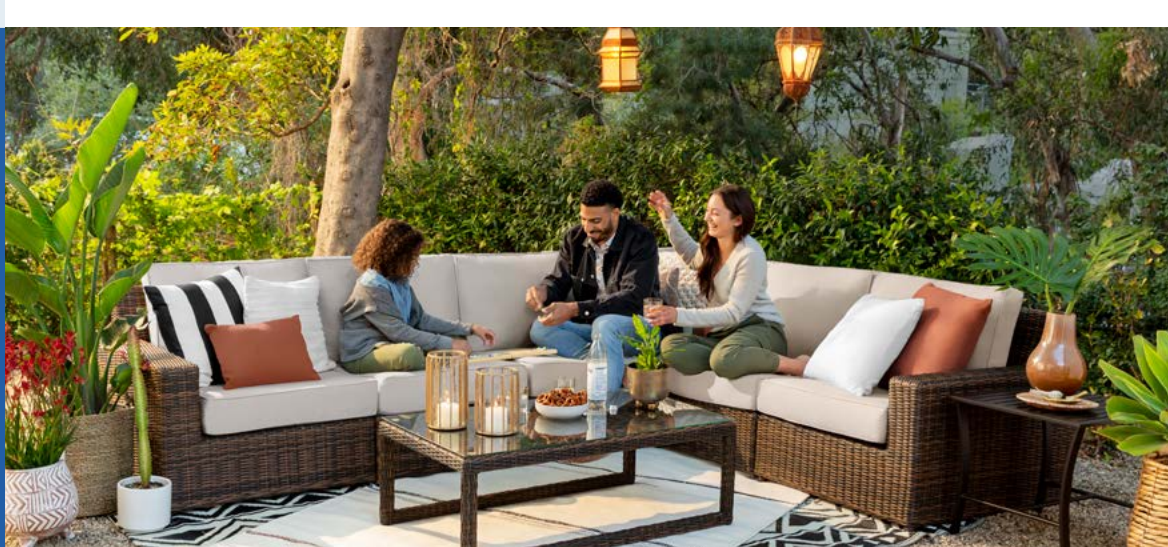

Looking for a more portable and cost-effective solution? Best Buy offers a host of portable projectors in quality and price ranges to fit any budget. Some have built-in smart capabilities to stream your favorite shows, while others have ports for Chromecast, a Fire TV Stick or Roku. Add a portable projector screen and you're ready for movie night. But be aware: these won't give you the level of picture quality you get from an outdoor TV during the daytime, these projectors are mainly designed to deliver a quality picture during the evening and night hours.

Well done.

When the sun is out and a light breeze is rustling the trees, being inside cooking up lunch or dinner is the last thing on your mind. Cook up the perfect meal outdoors with grills from the most sought-after brands like Weber or Traeger—oh yeah, Best Buy offers those.

Want to take it a step further? Outdoor kitchens are also an option. Full built-in units expand your options from flipping burgers to creating a chef's outdoor paradise.

Sit back and relax.

No outdoor experience is complete without the right outdoor furniture. Best Buy has you covered here as well, with options for every style, budget and lifestyle. Outdoor sectionals, chairs, umbrellas, firepits and so much more make being outside, and staying outside a joy. Whether you're gathering with friends or just sunbathing, a Home Expert will make sure you get the right furniture to fit your space, style and budget.
