

Spring cleaning for your tech.

It's the time of year to get rid of the old and make room for the new. When it comes to spring cleaning your technology, sometimes it's easy to know what to get rid of: if it doesn't work, you haven't used it in years or you're simply ready for an upgrade. Sometimes it's not so simple. Perhaps you have products that don't work as you wish they would, which may mean you need a new one. But it may also mean your products just need the right updates or the help of a Geek Squad® Agent. Thankfully, with a FREE consultation from a Best Buy® Home Expert, we can help you figure out what to keep, what to fix and what to get rid of. And, of course, what new tech or appliances would be the ideal upgrade.

The purge.

Every spring-cleaning job starts with the purge—removing the old, the broken, the forgotten, or the things that are just taking up too much space. Thankfully, whether you're adding new gear or not, Best Buy offers haul-away services. If you're not making a purchase and simply need old tech hauled away, we can remove and recycle up to two large products (including TVs, major appliances, all-in-one computers and monitors), along with an unlimited number of select smaller products, for $199.99. Click here to find out what we will and will not take.

You can also drop off up to three select items per household per day at your local Best Buy store. If you only have a few items you need to get rid of, that's a nice way to go. It's important to never dispose of your e-waste with household trash. Not only will it put more strain on landfills and contribute to soil and water contamination, but it also means someone could access your personal information.

So now that you've gotten rid of the old, the right way, it's time to get things cleaned up to get ready for the new.

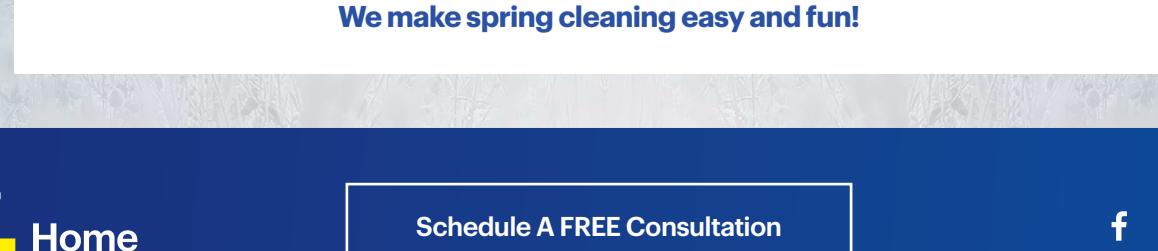

We put the clean in spring cleaning.

There are two parts to cleaning, putting things away—properly, and actually cleaning—vacuuming, dusting and those other chores most of us hate. And that's why we're here, to make it a little more enjoyable.

Let's start with storage. What you may not know is that Best Buy offers a host of storage cabinets, shelving units, bicycle mounts and bins. With a FREE in-home consultation, a Home Expert will review your needs, measure your space to make sure you not only get the right gear you need, but that it fits properly, then schedule installation (if you so desire). We've all seen that neighbor's pristine garage or basement, isn't it time yours rivaled that?

On to cleaning. With proper tools, it's really not such a chore. Our Home Experts can help you find the right vacuum, carpet cleaner, cleaning wipes and other solutions to fit your home and your needs; from powerful vacuums made for homes with pets, to the right cleaners for your stainless-steel appliances. With products like robot vacuums, we can even help make tech do the work for you.

Now that your home is clean and things are properly put away, it's time for the fun part, the upgrades.

The upgrade.

Time to get ready for the new. Whether you're looking to upgrade your appliances, get a bigger and clearer TV, update your office gear, or whatever your next project may be, we can help. With a free consultation from a Best Buy Home Expert, we'll not only help you find what's new, we'll make sure you have options of what will fit your space, design and budget.

When you have an in-home consultation, a Home Expert will visit your home and work with you to discover what options you have throughout your house from small changes, to major appliance or home entertainment upgrades. For example, you've finally cleaned out that cluttered basement—now might be the perfect time to create that home theater you've been dreaming about. Or how about that spare bedroom, outdoor space or bonus room? No matter where in your home you may find room for something new, we will work with you and your space, even your contractor, to create the right solutions for you.

The cool thing is, if you're upgrading tech or appliances, we'll haul away your old appliances for a small fee (restrictions apply). So now, not only do you get some really great new stuff, we take care of the old in a responsible way.

You've got old gear, we've got a way to get rid of it, plus a whole lot of new to bring anyone's appliance or home entertainment dreams to life. Are you ready? We are. Schedule a free in-home consultation today.
