The miggo Story

After many years of working for one of the world's leading camera bag manufacturers, developing countless bestselling camera bags, we discovered that many photo enthusiasts would love to find a simpler solution for carrying a camera than a cumbersome camera bag.

We found that many people leave their camera at home because they don't feel like carrying a camera bag in addition to their personal bag. We thought this was an issue worth dealing with. That is how miggo was born.

miggo is the world's first camera strap that morphs into a protective case. Its a simple and fun multi-purpose camera carrier, that allows you to carry your camera comfortably and store it securely in any bag without fear of damaging it. We're sure you will love miggo just like we love it.
