Set up your Total Security Mount

1. Place the back plate with the arrow pointing up and secure it with screws.

   For drywall, use the wall anchors we provide.

2. Insert your camera with its battery into the Total Security Mount housing.

3. To attach the housing to the back plate:

   Align the small screw in the housing with the dot on the back plate.

   Turn the housing clockwise until it clicks in place.

   Use the security key to tighten the small screw.

4. Adjust your camera position, then finger-tighten the mount lock (clockwise) to lock the camera in this position.

Note: To release your camera from the housing, insert the security key in the release button and turn the key clockwise.
